

Digital Toolkit for Scottish Interfaith Week 2024

For event organisers and supporters of Scottish Interfaith Week

Promoting your event online

Once your event has been published on the Scottish Interfaith Week website, it's time to start promoting your event!

In this toolkit you will find draft tweets and posts, links to downloadable social media graphics, and some useful tips to make promoting your event easier and more effective.

Tag the festival

Like and follow Scottish Interfaith Week on social media and tag us in your social media posts:

- Facebook – @FollowSIFW
- Twitter – @SIFWEvents
- Instagram – @scottishinterfaithweek

Use hashtags

Include our hashtags in your social media posts about Scottish Interfaith Week:

- #ScottishInterfaithWeek
- #SIFW2024

You can also use general hashtags relevant to the theme: #InterfaithDialogue #Community #Faith

Quick tips

Create an event on Facebook to easily share and promote your event, find out how - Create and Manage an Event \(Facebook Help Centre\).

Post regularly on social media about your event in the lead up to Scottish Interfaith Week. Tag people and organisations involved in your events. Tag organisations you think would be interested in sharing your event with their audience.

Join relevant groups on Facebook and share your event in the groups.

If you have a newsletter include a link to your event's sign-up form.

Share photos from previous events to build excitement. (Make sure you have the consent of everyone in the photos.)

Social media graphics

Use our new graphics in your social media posts. There are six versions for you to choose from.

All versions are available in the right dimensions for Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

You can download the graphics from our website.
